

NEW CLUE IN LINDBERGH CASE FROM WASHINGTON

GRADY CANTRELL MEETINGS START TOMORROW MORN

Big Tabernacle Was Dedicated Fitting On Friday Evening

The Grady Cantrell tabernacle erected on the W. F. Scholl lots on West Boyd Street was dedicated last night with fitting ceremonies. Rev. W. W. Marshall, chairman of the Committee, presided and offered the prayer of dedication. All of the pastors of the co-operating churches, with the exception of Rev. Conner and Rev. Hale, who were out of the city, were present and participated in the services.

Mayor Dixon brought the official greetings from the city. He said in part:

"As mayor I have many calls of different kinds, some pleasant and some unpleasant. But I assure you that the invitation to speak at this occasion is one of the most pleasing to me. Dixon has been a church town from its beginning. In 1838, I believe it was, the first church, the Baptist church, of which our chairman is pastor, was organized. Others were established shortly afterward. The influence of the churches of our city has enabled us to have one of the best and cleanest cities, I believe, that is to be found anywhere. I believe in this tabernacle and the purpose for which it was erected and predict that immeasurable and permanent good will result not only to our city, but to the surrounding communities, from this campaign you are opening tonight."

Choir of 100

Chairman Marshall introduced Dick Shote and Ray Harris who led in the music. The choir had about one hundred members present and led in a great song service. Mr. Harris sang a solo which was highly appreciated. The chairman took occasion to thank the men who erected the tabernacle and the women who served the free dinners to those in the churches the first three days of this week. The tabernacle was erected entirely by donated labor. About thirty carpenters and one hundred and fifty other men labored on it and the grounds during the week, all of whom donated their services.

An interesting feature was introduced when chairman Marshall asked all who remembered back to the time of the Billy Sunday tabernacle meeting twenty seven years ago and who attended the meetings to stand. Sixty five persons stood up.

Ministers Paul Gordon, A. D. Shaffer, B. C. Whitcomb and R. D. Martin brought congratulatory messages in brief but inspiring addresses. Rev. James A. Barnett, who participated in a union revival with Rev. Cantrell at Pekin, Ill., in 1928, was chosen to bring the key-note message of the campaign. He based his address, "The Coming of the Man of God," upon Kings, 17:8-16, which narrated the visit of Elijah, the prophet, to Zarahaphah during the great famine in Israel. The prophet tested the widow's faith, to whom God had given command to care for the prophet, by asking her to "bake me a little cake first," although it meant the using of all the meal and oil she possessed. But when the widow obeyed the prophet and baked the cake, God increased the meal and oil so that it failed not through all the months of the famine. A great blessing came to that home when Elijah raised the widow's son from the dead. "We have baked the little cake first," said Rev. Barnett, "by erecting this tabernacle. We have shown our faith by our works. Now we hope God will accept our offering to him in face of the depression and adverse circumstance, and greatly bless our efforts. This building is a monument of love. Every man who labored on it did so because he loved our Lord. May every nail driven represent a soul won to Christ in this campaign and every blow that drove the nails a soul reconsecrated to Christ."

The campaign will open Sunday morning at 11:15 with a sermon by Rev. Cantrell. He will preach also at 2:30 and at 7:30. The young people will meet in a union meeting at the Christian church at 6:30. The services will continue nightly at 7:30 except Monday.

It is suggested by the committee that if all cars will back to the south curb of Boyd street when parking, it will allow free space next to the tabernacle for the pedestrians entering and leaving the tabernacle.

USED AN ALIAS

When one week ago, Chief of Police Van Bibber took in custody a youth, who gave the name of Joe Laing, his age as 19, and claiming to have been a former resident of Dixon, who confessed to the theft two weeks ago of an automobile belonging to Victor Elchler, he was registered on the jail docket under that name. In corresponding to relatives in Britt, Iowa, the car thief suspect used the name of Hamilton, which led to his being questioned by Sheriff Fred Richardson.

The questioning brought forth the information that the suspect's name is Frank A. Hamilton whose parents reside in Britt, Iowa, and the further fact that he had never been in Dixon.

HOOVER ISSUES STATEMENT ON ECONOMY NEEDS

Says Balanced Budget Is Keystone of Economic Recovery

Washington, Mar. 26—(AP)—Describing balancing the budget as the "keystone of recovery," President Hoover said in a statement published today that this "must in the main be accomplished by an increase in taxation."

He added that a further reduction of government expenditures is expected but that the potential savings by this means are not sufficient to avoid heavier taxes.

Voicing confidence that both parties intend to see that the budget is balanced, Mr. Hoover said that unless this is done "the several measures for restoration of public confidence and reconstruction which we have already undertaken will be incomplete and the depression prolonged indefinitely."

In a strong appeal to the people to support and not obstruct Congress in its efforts to bring receipts and expenditures to a level, the Chief Executive late yesterday asserted that of the $4,100,000,000 budget a total of $2,100,000,000 cannot be reduced and the $700,000,000 for Army and Navy should not be touched in any manner to impair the strength of the nation's defense. This leaves but $1,300,000,000 plus postoffice expenditures, out of which savings can be made, and the sum covers many vital services of the government.

By contrast, he pointed out, the estimated deficit for next year is $1,250,000,000 coming on top of a two billion shortage this year and a half billion deficit last year.

HOUSE RESUMES EVEN KEEL: TAX BILL STILL UP

Treasury Plan For Increasing Revenue May Be Adopted

Washington, March 26—(UP)—The House resumed its session today and the Ways and Means committee today warned the rebellious Democratic members of the House that they were "destroying their party" by their amendments to the revenue bill.

The leaders appeared to be back in control for the first time since consideration of the bill was begun on the floor. Defeat of the beer amendment and endorsement of the oil tariff late yesterday were the first two victories they had had.

The sub-committee, headed by Rep. Ragon, Dem., Ark., called in Treasury experts for consultation on ways of filling the gap left by defeat of the sales tax. They worked late last night and were at it again early today. Most members of the committee leaned toward the Treasury plan, carrying increased postage rates a five per cent sales tax on automobiles, seven per cent on electricity and illumination gas, and two cents on bank checks.

They expect to conclude their work Sunday. Ragon has promised to have a plan ready for consideration of the full Ways and Means committee Monday morning. It will be submitted to the House probably Tuesday.

Meanwhile the House will plunge through 150 pages of administrative features of the bill. It probably will be finished with these by the time the new revenue proposals are ready.

Final action on the bill is predicted before the end of the week.

The leaders are more confident now. They had substantial majorities with them on the beer and oil amendments. The beer amendment was defeated by 216 to 132. It would have put a three cents a pint tax on 2.75 per cent beer, thereby legalizing it.

The oil amendment was endorsed 190 to 97.

Prison Sentence Is Given Lehman

George Lehman of this city was sentenced to serve an indeterminate sentence in the state penitentiary at Joliet by Judge Harry Edwards in the Circuit Court this morning on a burglary charge. Lehman entered a plea of guilty several weeks ago and arrangements were under way to secure his release from the county jail on parole.

Lehman was indicted by the grand jury for the theft of a large quantity of copper which was stolen from a warehouse at the Brown Shoe Company plant several months ago.

Judge Edwards closed the regular January term of the Circuit Court this morning after sentencing Lehman.

The annual election of officers of the organization will take place at this meeting and a special program of entertainment is being arranged for the ladies of the members. It is expected that many retail merchants of Ogle, Whiteside and Lee counties will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing the address of Professor Converse.

Wabash Is Putting Many Men To Work

Chicago, Mar. 26—(AP)—Labor on the Wabash Railroad is collecting dividends in jobs for the 10 per cent wage cut accepted nearly two months ago.

Eleven hundred men go back to work today at Decatur, Ill., shops and 2100 more are to be employed on maintenance work on or before June 1.

Announcement of plans for re-employment of 3200 workers in all and expenditure of millions of dollars on the road's tracks in half a dozen states was made last night by Walter S. Franklin, president of the Wabash.

He credited a $2,000,000 saving effected by the railroad through the lowered wages and a $7,175,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation with making the resumption of work possible.

Officer's Ruse Fatal To Bandit

Chicago, March 26—(UP)—Policeman Ray Geisler deliberately let a bandit trap him in a closet, then shot and killed the gunman while the robber was searching him for money.

The slain bandit was George Hawes, 23. His companion, Carl Hallex, 23, was captured.

Geisler posed as a messenger boy to enter the men's hotel room after a druggist told the officer he had received a call to send over $2 worth of tobacco and change for a $20 bill.

The policeman allowed Hawes to force him into a closet and start searching for his money. Then the officer grabbed the bandit's gun, whipped out his own and fatally wounded him.

Vote Of 50,000,000 This Year Is Hope

Washington, March 26—(UP)—President Hoover today formally endorsed a movement to bring out a record vote at the polls in the coming Presidential election.

The Chief Executive issued a statement this morning, expressing approval of a campaign by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce to increase by 14,000,000 the number of voters as compared with those in the 1928 election.

The Chamber hopes for a total of 50,000,000.

The forecast predicted a temperature "moderately cold" and near 32 degrees for Easter for the Chicago region and most of Illinois.

The forecast: "Probably fair tonight and Sunday except occasional cloudiness with snow or rain likely Sunday night or Monday. Slightly colder tonight. Lowest temperature near 32 degrees, moderately cold. Moderate winds mostly north to northeast."

HENRY M. LELAND PIONEER IN AUTO INDUSTRY, IS DEAD

"Grand Old Man" Of The Automobile Industry Died This Morn

Detroit, March 26—(AP)—Henry M. Leland, the "Grand Old Man" of the automobile industry, died at 5:30 o'clock this morning in Grace hospital, where he had been ill for several weeks. He was 89 years old.

The career of Henry M. Leland was replete in achievements. It took him from machinist's apprentice to the distinction of "The Grand Old Man of the Automobile Industry," from the manufacturing of tools for rifle making during the Civil War to the production of Liberty motors during the World War.

Of the several automotive pioneers who visioned the future of the industry, none stood out more prominently than Mr. Leland. Moving westward to Detroit in 1890, he began the manufacture of small tools, later qualified as a gear expert and found his metier—the automobile industry—when he began making transmissions for the one-cylinder car designed in 1900 by Ransom E. Olds.

Before going to Detroit, Mr. Leland had engaged in the manufacture of engines for what he termed "so-called" naptha launches, and it was upon the experience gained in that work that he based his prediction of the future of the internal combustion engines.

It was a strange analogy that the youth who helped make rifles for Union soldiers during the Civil War should, as a septuagenarian in 1917, make the heart of the modern instrument of war, the airplane motor, for use in the World War.

"Beautiful engines they were, too," Mr. Leland once said of the Liberty motors. "They would have won the war if the Kaiser hadn't run away so soon. I used to spend 16 to 18 hours a day at the plant when we were making those engines, but it was no hardship. I felt we were doing a real service, and work is the best fun I have."

Mr. Leland founded the Cadillac Motor Car Co. and for many years was its president until it was taken over in 1917 by The General Motors Corporation. Whether he actually proposed to retire when the Cadillac company was taken over is not known, but when the United States entered the World War, the then 75-year-old mechanical genius got into the fray by organizing the Lincoln Motor Co. chiefly for the production of the Liberty motor.

Financial troubles, however, waylaid the Lincoln company and it went into a federal receivership. That litigation ultimately led to a break between Mr. Leland and his friend, Henry Ford. The latter bought in the Lincoln properties at the receivership sale for $8,000,000. Six years later Mr. Leland and his son, Wilfred, brought suit against Henry and Edsel Ford, alleging breach of faith. The Lelands sought $6,000,000 damages for original stockholders of the Lincoln company, claiming that the Fords had verbally agreed to reimburse the stockholders when they took over the properties.

Henry M. Leland was born at Danville, Vt., February 16, 1843. He gleaned his education, as he expressed it, "in the little red school houses of Vermont and Massachusetts." In 1867 he married Ellen Rhoda Hull of Millbury, Mass. They had two children, Wilfred C. and Martha Gertrude (Mrs. Angus Woodbridge) both of Detroit.

Sister Of Dixon Woman Is Called

Polo, March 26—(UP)—Elizabeth Wiebezahl Hunt, resident of Polo for forty-nine years, died at her home in North Franklin street at 7 P. M. Friday evening. She had been ill for some time, and suffered an attack of pneumonia Sunday.

Elizabeth Wiebezahl was born Aug. 24, 1856. She was married to H. B. Hunt, March 1, 1881. Her husband, a local druggist, died two years ago.

She leaves a daughter, Jennie, at home and a sister, Mrs. D. S. Horton, Dixon. She was a member of the Lutheran church, where funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, Rev. Carl Kammer officiating.

Funeral Miss Mary Dibley Sunday P. M.

The funeral of Miss Mary Dibley, 77, who passed away at her home in Lee Center Thursday evening, will be held at the Lee Center Congregational church at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Rev. David, pastor, officiating and with burial in the Woodside cemetery.

Miss Dibley, who was born in Newcastle, England, had been ill for some time prior to her death. She is survived by one brother, Charles Dibley of Lee Center. She was a member of the Lee Center Rebekah lodge.

Settlement Ohio Mine Strike Near

Columbus, O., March 26—(AP)—Early settlement of the Hocking Valley coal strike involving some 7,000 men appeared possible today as a result of two overnight developments.

Brigadier General Ludwig S. Conelly, commanding the Ohio National Guard observers in the strike zone, opened the way for settlement when he suggested a six months truce and obtained from the miners a promise to withdraw pickets from one mine.

A scale committee representing the miners who walked out February 1, met with General Conelly and agreed to withdraw pickets from the No. 6 mine of the Sunday Creek Coal Company at Millfield on the company's promise that a 72-hour notice would precede any attempt to reopen the pits.

Preacher Freed Of Murder Charge

Palatka, Fla., March 26—(AP)—The Rev. Earl H. McGaha, crusading Christian minister, was acquitted of a first degree murder charge today in the fatal shooting of John W. Malone, accused moonshiner, in a raid on a still last Christmas Eve.

Jurors received the case last night but failed to reach a verdict then. Originally the minister was ordered held on a manslaughter charge after a Coroner's inquest but the grand jury indicted him for murder. He did not testify at his trial here yesterday.

Previously he told a Coroner's jury his gun was discharged accidentally when he tripped as he and officers closed in on the still.

Indicted Attorney Surrendered Today

Chicago, March 26—(UP)—Ralph G. Crandall, attorney, vice president of the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line Company, named with three others Thursday in Federal indictments charging use of the mails in a $35,000,000 stock fraud, surrendered yesterday to Federal authorities.

Accompanied by his attorney, John E. Northrup, Crandall appeared before Federal Judge John P. Barnes, who reduced his bond from $1,000 to $2,000. Crandall put up cash for bail. He declined to make a statement.

A City Going Back to Work

Every city in America can be a city going back to work.

Every city can win its War Against Depression.

The great national unemployment problem is just ten thousand community problems.

Evansville, Ind., is one of the hundreds of cities showing the way out.

United Action for Employment has become "The United Evansville Movement" in that city.

All Evansville is IN the movement.

There's a slogan and a good one. It's this: "Buy now; hire a man so he can buy."

Every Evansville employer is being asked to hire one or more of those now unemployed.

Every American city can do likewise.

Soon there will be a new roll of honor in America—a roll of the cities that have gone back to work, the cities that have banished fear, the cities whose police stations are no longer crowded with the jobless.

Give a worker a job Restore a worker to self-support and self-respect.

If you can't give a job, give some part time employment. Have a fence painted or a room papered or a basement cleaned.

Let's put THIS city in the list on the honor roll.

Peace Negotiations In China Near End

Shanghai, March 26—(AP)—Negotiations for a Sino-Japanese armistice were near a breakdown today as the delegates of the two countries adjourned until Monday in order to refer controversial issues to their respective governments.

The meeting ended today with a deadlock on the issue of withdrawal of Japanese troops and only the possibility of substantial concessions on both sides offered any hope of saving the conference.

The negotiations reached a crisis yesterday, it was understood, when Lieut. General Kenkichi Ueyeda, chief of the Japanese delegates, informed the conference that the Japs would not withdraw before six weeks and then only to a so-called secondary defense line, running through Chenju, Tachang and Tsetzeling.

WALNUT CANDLSTICKS TO BE USED AT ST. PETER'S—

Louis Wilhelm has made six service candlesticks and two eucharistic candlesticks out of black walnut, which he has presented to St. Peter's Episcopal church at Grand Detour, through the Rector, Rev. Whitcomb. The black walnut gleams like marble and Louis may well be proud of his handiwork. The candlesticks of this wood are most appropriate and blend well with the rich and quaint interior of St. Peter's.

Easter Prayer

BY HELEN WELSHIMER

HELP us to find a cross somewhere,
Since it is Easter day,
Where we may nail the foolish fears
That we should throw away.
Teach us, dear God, that bright green rain
Will always come with spring.
There will be sunlight on old fields—
Keep us remembering!

MAY we forget the petty trials,
Dreams gone, brief hurt, deep loss;
And turn where lilacs climb the air
To hide a bleeding cross.
For hope is born when lilacs bloom
Rain-sweet in early spring,
And faith that found an empty tomb
Can conquer anything!

Girl Scout News Notes Interesting

MONDAY—Brownie Pack of the North Side was surprised by an Easter party. In the center of their room they found a large nest of artificial grass. Small yellow chickens were perched on the rim and in the center was a heap of brightly colored candy eggs. After all had eaten their share and received one of the chicks, the meeting was begun. In the Fox Wow Circle the story of Easter was related, while all the Brownies contributed some bit about the last days of Christ. Some of the Brownies recited poems they had learned. Roll Call was answered with the notes of some bird song. Next month will be devoted to the study of birds. The robin and Baltimore Oriole were the two of our feathered friends whose life was discussed at this meeting. After a game and the singing of the Brownie song the meeting was dismissed.

TROOP V were entertained at a St. Patrick's day party on March 17th, in the home of the local director. Games were played during the first part of the evening. A contest in the recognition of advertisements was held. Miss Emily Swan was the winner and received the latest book in the Girl Scout series. Following this contest, the girls were asked to make a list of words from the words, Saint Patrick, Miss Phyllis Marks had the longest list and was rewarded with a small plant in a green pot. Refreshments in the holiday colors were served.

The next meeting of the troop will be held on April 4th at Miss Florence Stiles.

The underfoot girls passed their test on the compass, but continued their study of ascertaining direction by means of the sun, moon and stars. Games dealing with these were played. All girls were asked to bring light sticks of three feet in length to next meeting as they are going to construct signal flags. The second class scouts met with Mrs. C. A. Hosper at 6:30 to discuss mapmaking and to plan for future work.

These girls will study the code during vacation in order to teach it to the tenderfoot girls.

THURSDAY—Brownie Pack of the South Side spent a pleasant and active hour completing the construction of their spool dolls. They proved to be very attractive and almost every Brownie had a younger child to whom they were going to present it to. After marching and songs the meeting was dismissed.

WIND VS BEAUTY

Windy spring is just naturally hard on beauty. You must take more precautions than usual to keep your skin lovely, your eyes and hair bright and shining.

In the first place, remember that no wind in cities is clean and pure. All kinds of tiny particles of dirt fly about and often your face and your eyes seem magnets to draw them all!

This is the time of year to carry a small tube of cleansing cream or a tiny bottle of face cleanser in your purse. Also keep an eye cup in your office desk. There is nothing like an eye cup of lotion to get out a speck before it becomes deeply lodged in your eye.

Changing to silk things, from woolen, carries a certain chance for catching cold, even in fairly mild weather. Now is the time, therefore, to begin taking salt baths to harden your skin or at least take a cold shower every morning before stepping out.

High coat collars also have the disadvantage of becoming soiled much more easily than low ones and in turn soiling your spotted neck. Don't forget to wipe off your collars quite often with cleansing fluid. And don't forget to wipe off your neck, either. That is what the cleansing cream and fluid is in your purse for!

Spring is the time to begin taking care that you are meticulously groomed. Whether you need it or not use a good deodorant and anti-perspirant. As a matter of fact, most individuals do not need this type of care, whether they know it or not.

It pays to be very careful about personal grooming approaches. Last, but not least, be sure your teeth are in good order. A bad tooth can offend folks talking to you long before it begins to ache. And bad breath is one thing you shouldn't ask your business associates or friends to bear. When you wash your teeth night and morning, use an antiseptic mouth wash and play safe.

Lent Is Over Officially at Noon Today

Rome, Italy, Mar. 26.—(AP)—Lent was over officially at noon today and church bells and organs, silent since Holy Thursday morning, apprized the capital city of the Roman Catholic world that the time had come to rejoice in Christ's Resurrection.

Special rituals commemorated the day. In St. Peter's the Pope's paschal candle, eight feet high and three inches in diameter, was blessed by Cardinal Pacelli. The Cardinal lighted the Easter fire by striking a spark from a flint. The "new fire," as it is called, was suggestive of Christ's Resurrection.

At the conclusion of the mass the Cardinal imparted a benediction with relics said to have been connected with Christ's passion and death.

DISADVANTAGES OF THE DOLE.
We have been told plenty of times, during the past few months, that the dole is demoralizing. Nobody ever took the trouble to show just how and why it is demoralizing, until the Welfare Council of New York City the other day released a report studying the effect of unemployment on the "new poor."
From reports of some 900 social workers and public health nurses, the Welfare Council was able to get a pretty clear picture of what happens in a hitherto self-supporting, self-reliant family when it is forced to live on charity.
"Most of them," says the survey, "really wanted work. When they got it without too long a wait, they were happy that they could get along without further assistance, and there was usually no evidence of the development of a dependent attitude."
"When employment was long delayed, those who at first were uncomfortable at the necessity for seeking assistance, and grateful for whatever was given, became demanding and grasping. . . . After the initial embarrassment of a first recourse to charity is overcome, it is easy to ask a second time, to drop efforts to find work, accept a position of dependence, rely on the agency and criticize its methods."
The survey explains, too, that many unemployed workers "became so mentally and physically fatigued by the constant discouragement of unsuccessful search for employment that they were as open to the mental infection of dependency, as they were to various physical infections."
This amply buttresses all the bad things that we have been hearing about the dole. Yet it is worth noticing that the people studied in this report were the recipients of local charity. Their money was coming from their immediate fellow-citizens and not from Uncle Sam.
One kind of dole, evidently, is just as bad as another kind. It is tragic that people have to ask for help; inevitable, when they do, that some of them will lose their self-reliance and their energy.

JOB HUNTING IN RUSSIA.
It was slightly amusing to learn, via recent cable dispatches from Moscow, that several hundred Americans who went to Russia during the past summer and fall looking for jobs have been asked to return to the United States. Russia has no jobs for them and can't be bothered looking after them.
Jobs may be scarce on this side of the sea, and the land where the worker is king may look very glittering and attractive; but the millennium, evidently, has not yet dawned.
The American job hunter who decides to pull up stakes and throw his lot in with the Communists on their native heath takes a step much like that of the individual who leaps out of the frying pan only to land right in the middle of a nice, hot fire.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)
Wee Windy was the first to say, "Look! I've sold out! Hip, hip, hurrah! My basket was filled to the top with pies and cakes and bread. And now not one thing left have I. All of the tots seemed glad to be. I told them just how good things were. You see, I used my head."
Another Tiny said, "Oh, you need not be proud. I've sold out, too! And, look, Poor Duncy still has lots of things that he must sell. Let's help him, if he doesn't mind. He ought to feel that we are kind." They offered him their services and Duncy answered "Swell!"
"I'm sorry that I've been so slow, but things I had just wouldn't go. Perhaps I don't yell loud enough. Somebody shout for me!" So Windy cried, "Come buy some more. We still have real nice things in store!" Once more all of the Tines were as busy as could be.
At last the last cupcake was sold. "Ah, ha! We all are salesmen bold," said Coppy. "Now, let's drive right back and tell the bakerman. He will believe us when we say that we all have worked hard today." Then to the bakery wagon all the happy Tines ran.
"All right, bound, run with all your might. The wagon now will seem real light," snapped Scooty, as they climbed aboard. The dog began to run. Said Duncy, "Gee, he seems to know he's going home. Just see him go! I hope we don't tip over. That would spoil the whole day's fun."
The short trip turned out safe and sound, and all the bunch jumped to the ground and started waving baskets that were empty as could be. Up to the baker they all ran. "We've sold out, Mister Bakerman!" cried Duncy. And the baker smiled and said, "Well, mercy me!"
(The Tines get a big treat in the next story.)

CALLS FORD MAN OF ONE IDEA
Jonathan Norton Leonard DeBunk Magnate in a Bitter Critique
Review of His Life
In "The Tragedy of Henry Ford" Jonathan Norton Leonard under takes to debunk the world's most famous industrialist. Whether or not he succeeds is something each reader must decide for himself. Certainly the book is a sharply critical piece of work.
Ford, says this writer, is an extremely limited man who has just one good idea—the idea that there is a tremendous market for automobile if only they are priced cheaply enough.
He got this idea back at the dawn of the present century, and made it his guiding star. It made the Ford Motor Co. the greatest firm of the world's richest man. But Ford him-kind on earth and made Ford the self, the writer insists, contributed that idea and nothing more.
Ford, he says, is not a mechanic, not a financial genius, not a skilled industrialist. During the period of his rise, he says, he leaped on men like Couzens and the Dodge brothers; when they left him his troubles began and today Mr. Leonard calls him just another automobile manufacturer.
Mr. Leonard gives plenty of space to such unfortunate episodes in Ford's life as the peace ship, the Jew-baiting campaign and the Chicago Tribune libel suit. He is also violently critical of working conditions at the Ford plant, and he has bitter things to say about Ford's "paternalism" toward his workers.
You may find the book unfair, in spots, but you'll not find it uninteresting anywhere.

France in Last Stirring Tribute to Briand

A SIMPLE FLAG-DRAINED COFFIN held the body of France's beloved Aristide Briand, while great men of all the world paid homage to the memory of the silver-tongued statesman who held many of his nation's highest offices. This picture, taken during the impressive funeral in Paris, shows a column of troops marching by the casket of the man who won world fame as "the statesman of peace."

FRANCE'S GRIEF-STRIKEN THOUSANDS solemnly stood by with bared heads as "the great man of peace"—Aristide Briand—was borne amidst military pomp through Paris streets to the little cemetery at Passy. This striking picture reveals the stirring scene as the horse-drawn carriage carrying the famous statesman's high with flowers sent by emperors, kings, presidents and lesser folk throughout the world. Friends and former colleagues of all nations followed the funeral coach.

Maybe it isn't wedding etiquette for the bride to light up a cigar just before the ceremony. But the "bride" in this instance is Cadet Gerry Culver (left) of the United States Military Academy and the "bride" is Cadet Robert Finkelnauer. And cigars were in order between acts of "The Merry Wives of West Point," the academy's annual show.

NOW, ALONG THE LINE OF SPRING CLOTHES!

Cut of a Dress Is Most Important in New, Simple Mode, Says Patou

BY JEAN PATOU

Written for NEA Service

Paris—A sufficiently generalized glance at recent fashions—and by recent I mean those which have prevailed during the last few seasons—will show how much importance is attached to the pattern or design of lines in a gown. This importance is all the more striking if one compares the present styles with some of those that have passed.

Lines of the present mode are strategic positions today due to the simplicity can no longer use, or only plicity of the present mode. This in very restrained doses, the numerous and complicated attributes and trimmings which result in more important volumes. The fantasy in the mode today is expressed much more subtly and discreetly and results in more or less flat surfaces.

Frock's Individuality Determines Pattern of Lines

According to the individuality of a dress, the design or pattern of its lines is either barely visible or else it forms its decorative element. Stitching and tucking can be varied at will and can be as discreet or as evident as desired. The constitute the scale of expression of a pattern which must always be adapted, however, to the fundamental structure of the dress. A salk gown, for example, presents a great measure of basic character in itself and its decorative pattern must not be too evident, otherwise its entire individuality would risk being attenuated and even submerged.

Every woman is aware of and unconsciously appreciates the sure effect of a design constituted by the fantasy in the cut of a dress. This effect, the subject of a great deal of study on the part of a creator, is based on the general principle that vertical lines give length and horizontals produce the contrary effect. A couturier would soon be led to rare monotony, however, if he rigidly applied this principle and which only should be interpreted in combinations. Anybody can observe, too, that so far as the horizontal is concerned, if the effect is

NO SOFT SPOTS IN SENIOR LOOP COMING SEASON

Hot Race For Pennant In National League Is Predicted

Jacksonville, Fla., Mar. 26.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals are the world champions of baseball, but the burden of proof is placed squarely on them and their famous chain store system this year.

The big question to be answered in this season's National League race is whether the pennant club can trade its ace right hander to an outstanding rival like the Chicago Cubs and still depend sufficiently on its resources in rookie talent to fill the gap.

If Buregh Grimes, who won 17 games for the Cards last year mostly against first division outfits, can be replaced by the work of Tex A. Carleton and Dizzy Dean, combined, the world champions will be as tough as ever to beat.

It's a large order for a pair of recruits, especially in a league so extremely balanced that not even the 1931 tail ender, Cincinnati, can any longer be regarded as a "set-up."

So far, Dean, the most widely ballyhooed young pitcher to move up in a long time has not shown as much stuff as his former Houston team mate, Carleton. These two, with Ray Starr, from Rochester, are the chain store "aces," but for the time being the "full house" upon which the Cards must depend consists of Bill Hallahan, Paul Deringer, Jesse Haines, Flint Rhem and Sylvester Johnson.

Pitching Chief Factor
The Card pitching prospects are stressed because it has been the chief factor in their pennant victories in four of the past six years. The rest of the club is unchanged, except as affected by holdouts. It has not looked impressive in the spring camp but it still is strong in the vital spots and its spirit has a flaming pace setter in Pepper Martin, the Oklahoma power house.

Not even the great distance separating their training activities can lessen the fact that the Cards' main rivals, the New York Giants and the Chicago Cubs, will move into battle from California, each with pennant winning equipment.

Very likely it will be a three-cornered fight, unless Max Carey can find the right combination with Brooklyn and inject the colorful Dodgers into the pennant fray. Of the second division clubs, only the Cincinnati Reds and Phillies have manifested improvement, both are out to make it as harassing as possible for leaders.

Youth must come through for both the Giants and Cubs to make the showing their partisans expect. Len Koenekne, the Indianapolis clouter, has been picked for left field by John McGraw. Young Jim Mooney likewise is slated to round out a portside quartet with Clarence Mitchell, Carl Hubbell and Bill A. Walker. However, the Giants cannot be rated as even choice with the Cards, unless Hughes Crite's arm is sound and he is able to play at second base.

Cubs Heavy With Age
The Cubs have plenty of the old wallop, plus the fortitude to rely on such kid infielders as Billy Herman at second and the fast Stanley Hack at third base. Otherwise the Cubs are heavy with age, particularly in the outfield, with a pitching staff consisting of Grimes, Root, Malone, Bob Smith and Guy Bush.

The slogan inspired by the Cardinal manager—"Street fears Cincinnati"—is actually typical of the National League outlook. The Reds even though they gave up two fine infielders in the trade with Brooklyn, fortified themselves with Babe Herman, Ernest Lombardi and Wally Gilbert. There isn't a "soft spot" in the circuit now.

Brooklyn, unless it gets exceptional pitching from Hoyt, Vance and Clark, will have trouble keeping in the first division.

Boston has the pitching and its punch should be heftier with the addition of Fred Leach but the Braves' infield and catching leaves something to be desired. The Reds, who could stand plenty of it, look vastly improved in every department. The Phillies have more and better speed, reserve power and better pitching to back up their well known wallop. The Pirates still have their irrepressible Waner boys and Pie Traynor, but need a lot of help otherwise to be classified as more than troublesome.

Browns Star Holdout Signed His Contract

St. Louis, Mar. 25.—(AP)—Ralph (Red) Kress, infield holdout of St. Louis Browns, today wired his acceptance of 1932 contract terms to President Phil Ball, with the comment that he was accepting only because he had no other choice.

In reply to a wire from Ball, asserting "you have temporized with us too long already, which has caused your head to swell," Kress telegraphed:

"Have to accept but not a case of wanting to. I sure have lots to be well-headed about, working for the Browns for a measly $8000 and being a major league star."

Had Kress not accepted when he did, Ball's offer would have been reduced to $7500, the Brooklyn president made clear in an exchange of telegrams yesterday. This was the amount of Kress' 1931 contract.

CANTON TACKLES MORTON TONIGHT FOR CAGE TITLE

Kewanee Eliminated By Cicero Cagers Last Evening

FRIDAY'S RESULTS:
Canton 24; Lawrenceville 20.
Morton (Cicero) 28; Kewanee 20.
GAMES TODAY:
7:30 P. M.—Lawrenceville vs Hillsboro (consolation).
8:30 P. M.—Canton vs Morton (Cicero) (championship).

Champaign, Ill., March 26.—(UP)—Morton high school, Cicero, and Canton will play for the state high school basketball championship here tonight.

Morton won the right by defeating Kewanee, 28 to 20, while Canton defeated Lawrenceville, 24 to 20, in a semi-final games, Friday night. Lawrenceville and Kewanee will meet in the first game for third place.

Canton's victory earned for the Fulton county team the right to compete for the state championship for the fifth time since 1920. Only once before has it won a title—in 1928. In 1920, 1924, and 1926 it lost in the final game.

Morton's victory over Kewanee was due to hard worked Kopecky and Vopicka who scored all but five of their team's points. Vopicka scored 12 points—four field goals and three free throws.

Morton jumped into an early lead and only once did Kewanee threaten. This was in the first quarter when the score was tied 6-all. In the fourth quarter, however, Kewanee came within three points of their opponents only to have Morton make a basket and three free throws to make its margin safe.

Elmer Mettler of Canton scored five long baskets which fairly took the heart out of Lawrenceville. Canton's 24 to 20 victory left southern Illinois without a title aspirant. "Bosco" Taylor, Negro Canton forward, not only acted as pivot man but furnished the curly head which Mettler rubbed for good luck on his long shots.

Lawrenceville suffered in the loss of Weger, its star forward, after five minutes in the third quarter. He went out on personal fouls. Before leaving, he made two baskets and two free throws.

Do You Remember?

One Year Ago Today—The year-long salary dispute between Eddie Ross, veteran National League outfielder, and the New York Giants ended suddenly with an announcement from Manager John McGraw that he had sold his stubborn holdout to the Cincinnati Reds.

Five Years Ago Today—France swept the United States indoor tennis championships as Jean Borotra and Jacques Brugnon trounced Dr. George King and Francis T. Hunter, U. S. team, 7-5, 6-3, 6-3 in the doubles, and Borotra defeated his countryman for the singles title.

Ten Years Ago Today—Thomas Monahan's Rebuke, at 7 to 1, ran away with top honors in the $15,000 Hack at third base. Otherwise the Cubs are heavy with age, particularly in the outfield, with a pitching staff consisting of Grimes, Root, Malone, Bob Smith and Guy Bush.

The slogan inspired by the Cardinal manager—"Street fears Cincinnati"—is actually typical of the National League outlook. The Reds even though they gave up two fine infielders in the trade with Brooklyn, fortified themselves with Babe Herman, Ernest Lombardi and Wally Gilbert. There isn't a "soft spot" in the circuit now.

Brooklyn, unless it gets exceptional pitching from Hoyt, Vance and Clark, will have trouble keeping in the first division.

Boston has the pitching and its punch should be heftier with the addition of Fred Leach but the Braves' infield and catching leaves something to be desired. The Reds, who could stand plenty of it, look vastly improved in every department. The Phillies have more and better speed, reserve power and better pitching to back up their well known wallop. The Pirates still have their irrepressible Waner boys and Pie Traynor, but need a lot of help otherwise to be classified as more than troublesome.

Cincinnati Seeks To Acquire Hafey
Tampa Fla., Mar. 26.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds want after Chick Hafey today as a prize addition to their growing collection of National League baseball stars.

Hafey led the league in batting last year. Now he's a holdout from the St. Louis Cardinals Cincinnati wants him, but so apparently, does the rest of the National League.

That was the formation given President Sidney Weil of the Reds yesterday when he broached the matter to the Cardinals management. Undaunted, he plans to try again today.

The attitude of St. Louis was described as being that Hafey would not be sold or traded until he had signed with the Cardinals for another year.

Addition of the slugging Cardinal outfielder would give Cincinnati another of the famous names of baseball, a crew admittedly headed by Babe Herman, and including Douthett, High, Grantham, Heath, Roettger, Durocher and Lucas. To that group the Reds have added Ernest Lombardi and Wally Gilbert.

Rebuffed in first efforts to dicker for Hafey President Weil angled for Lindsey to reinforce the Reds' pitching staff but "no sale" was rung up again.

FRESNO CURBS POLE SITTERS.
Fresno, Cal., March 26.—(UP)—Flag pole sitters are as unwelcome in this city as marathon dancers. To curb such endurance exhibitions, Fresno's city council has passed an ordinance prohibiting such activity for more than 12 hours, either continuously or intermittently, in any calendar day.

At Atlanta—Toronto (IL) 5; Atlanta (SA) 4.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Fred Leach, the outfielder recently acquired from the Giants by the Braves, joined the Tribe yesterday and got off to a pretty good start. He was in left field as the Braves lined up against the Reds and made one hit out of two times at bat before retiring in favor of Red Worthington.

Savannah, Ga.—Manager Shono Collins of the Boston Red Sox is spending a lot of time these days with Big Boy Weiland, the southpaw hurler obtained from the White Sox for Milt Gaston. Weiland is working to develop better control.

Winter Haven, Fla.—The Phillies face Babe Ruth and the rest of the Yankees at St. Petersburg today in the Phils' last game of the season on Florida soil, then hurry back to Winter Haven to pack for their departure for Atlanta Sunday.

Fort Myers, Fla.—The old law of the survival of the fittest has been applied again, and as a result some young players will not help the Athletics fight for the pennant this year.

The twenty-three players definitely to be retained, according to Connie Mack, are: pitchers—Grave, Walberg, Earnshaw, Mahaffey, Rommel, Bowman, Cain and Krause; catchers—Cochrane, Heavring and Majeski; infielders—Foxy, Roettger, Bishop, Williams, Dykes, McNair and Boley; outfielders—Simmons, Haas, Miller, Cramer and Coleman.

Biloxi, Miss.—The injury jinx favored Joe Judge of the Washington Senators, by keeping Joe Kuhel, his rival for the regular first base post, out of today's game with the Baltimore Orioles.

Kuhel was struck on the glove hand yesterday by a batted ball.

San Francisco—Rogers Hornsby today was contemplating changes in the Chicago Cub battlefield to produce some major league batting power. The Cubs have been out in two games by the San Francisco Missions, and yesterday managed to win in ten innings because the coast leaguers committed five errors.

Fort Worth, Tex.—The battle for the third base job with the Chicago White Sox, involving Luke Appling and Carey Selph, appears to be going in favor of the latter. Selph, who insisted for awhile that he would rather play in his Texas League than with the Sox, has been hitting and fielding so well that he seems certain of starting the season as a regular.

Los Angeles, Cal.—The Detroit Tigers open a three-game series with the Pittsburgh Pirates here today after a disastrous pair of contests with Hollywood in San Diego, both of which the Coast Leaguers won.

New Orleans, La.—Willis Hudlin will work against the New Orleans Pelicans today in their game with the Cleveland Indians. Hudlin will go as many innings as he likes, the first pitcher to write his own ticket in the Indians training camp this spring.

Los Angeles—Whatever they may do in the National League this season, the New York Giants indubitably are major league champions of the Pacific Coast.

They beat the Chicago Cubs, five games to three; the Detroit Tigers, one, and the Pittsburgh Pirates, two to none. They are having some difficulty, however, explaining away two straight defeats by the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast League.

Barnton, Cal.—It may be that Manager Max Carey of the Brooklyn Dodgers will have to play first base himself.

Since Del Bissonnette's injury, Carey has been trying out Murray Howell at the initial sack but the Rockie's fielding leaves something to be desired. Carey put Hollis Thurston, a pitcher, at that position yesterday but Thurston was not impressive. Carey still hopes to swing a trade.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—It looks like Jack Saltzgraver and Frank Crosetti both have won places in the New York Yankees infield.

The Yankees probably will start the season with Crosetti at shortstop, Saltzgraver at second, Larry at third, Gehring at first, Ruth, Combs and Chapman in the outfield, and Dickey catching.

New York, Mar. 26.—(UP)—The success of the trade winds that wafted Babe Herman, Ernie Lombardi and Wally Gilbert out of Brooklyn uniforms and waited Joe Stripp, Tony Cuccinello and Clyde Sukeforth into them, would seem to have gone to Manager Max Carey's head like three slugs of well aged corn.

All one can read in the papers now is of further trades the man hopes to accomplish. At the present time Manager Carey is hoping for the following swaps: Van Mungo for Grove, Finn for Frisch; Slade for Hornsby; Howell for Ruth, and Vance for Bottomley, Grimes, three copies of the Pickwick papers and both Waner boys.

If further proof was needed that Bat Battalino's recent bout with Freddie Miller in Cincinnati was "phony" that was then the Bat supplied himself by standing up for more than 11 rounds before Bill Petrolle's withering fire. Against Petrolle Bat was the toughest hombre that ever lived. Yet in Cincinnati, Bat went down in a crumpled heap following a tremendous punch to the index finger.

If I were an Englishman, and owned such a thing as a motor boat, and raced same in American waters, I would always take a good look around before a race and see if any of my competitors were flying little red, white and blue flags. If they were, I'd slip on my longest long drawers, drape a life preserver around my neck, load my old six shooter and get set for anything. Or am I too subtle?

The year 1932 is scarcely three months old and yet it has taken a heavy toll of sports prominent. Paddy Mullins, one of the few men who ever called Jack Dempsey a liar and got by with it, is the latest to go. Dally, former president of the U. S. L. T. A.; Barney Dreyfus, Pittsburgh Pirates owner; Sol Metzger, one-time football gear who became a sports writer and cartoonist; William Wrigley, Jr., owner of the Chicago Cubs, and Bill O'Rourke, general manager of the Cincinnati Reds.

There's no use denying it, those red-shirted Les Canadiens are champions. And the best proof of this lies in the fact that the flying Frenchmen of Montreal hit their true stride, reach their greatest heights, only when the checks are down, the blue chips on the table. And the best little bet you ever made is that when it's all over they'll be hockey champions of the world for the third successive time.

SPRING BRINGS DARK CRISIS TO NATION'S NEEDY

Relief Funds In Nearly All Communities Are Exhausted

(Copyright, 1932, By United Press) Chicago, March 26 —(U.P.)—Spring which annually heralds release from winter's bondage of cold and suffering has brought a dark crisis to America's needy and unemployed, an extensive United Press survey showed.

City after city reported terrific burdens have drained emergency funds appropriated from state and city treasuries or raised by the popular subscriptions.

Now, though heaviest demands of the year have been met, little money remains to furnish food and clothing for thousands who will need aid during warmer months.

A score of metropolitan cities reported unemployment budgets empty. An equal group said funds would be totally expended soon. Many planned new drives to replenish relief finances, while others in dull despair feared starvation and want will take toll in the homes of unfortunate citizens.

Weary relief workers confessed their problem became more acute each day. Several suggested federal intervention as a possible solution of what they called the "worst crisis in the history of America."

Chicago Fortune
Chicago is comparatively fortunate insofar as emergency relief funds are concerned, although appeals for food and clothing mount daily.

Frank D. Loomis, Secretary of Chicago's joint emergency relief committee said 150,000 families are being fed and cared for daily. Funds were exhausted by February 1, but $10,000,000 voted by the state legislature will tide the city over until fall. Through this fund, besides the 150,000 families provided for day, more than 65,000 single men and women are fed and sheltered.

The Illinois Emergency Relief Committee has an appropriation of $18,500,000.

Joseph L. Moss, Director of the Cook County Welfare Bureau said an emergency relief fund—state, city and county—would last only to August 1.

"No one knows what will happen then," said Moss. "The future is tragic. The only possible solution, if there is a solution to this chaotic condition, can come from federal intervention and control."

Cities Without Funds
The President's Committee at Washington reported 12 key cities virtually without funds to continue relief. These cities are located in every section of the country.

New York, like Chicago, has been aided by sale of state bonds. The five boroughs of Greater New York have contributed $4,500,000 to home relief and $6,500,000 to work relief.

New York City expects its emergency relief funds to last through May. After that no plan has been laid. The state appropriated for work relief in New York City $4,250,000. These funds, too, are expected to be expended before the end of May. The New York City Work Commission has created 36,000 jobs.

The Emergency Work Bureau is keeping 20,000 on part-time work. More than 78,000 persons are fed and sheltered daily and 20,000 other cases are pending.

Allegheny county, Pittsburgh, reports "the greatest crisis in history." Relief funds have run out. Thousands of families are homeless and in want. The United Press survey revealed 160,000 individuals in this district destitute. Direct relief was being furnished to 16,000 families and 8,500 others had been given some employment.

Many Face Starvation
Ten thousand persons face actual starvation in New Orleans, the survey showed because of threatened cessation of public welfare work. Mayor T. S. Walmsey has called a special election for May 3 to vote issuance of $750,000 bonds to supply the needy for one year.

Cleveland, Detroit, Toledo, Columbus and Cincinnati face dire need. Funds for relief exhausted, the recent cold spell increased suffering. In Ohio a special session of the legislature is considered to bring relief to destitute thousands.

"We have reached out limit and do not know which way to turn," said Mayor C. Nelson Sparks, of Akron, Ohio.

Milwaukee reported feeding 28,000 daily. The number of needy families has increased 100 per cent in three months.

There are a few bright spots in the rapidly increasing list of destitute cities.

Salt Lake City, Utah, reported all relief organizations in good shape. Its community chest was over-subscribed.

In Kansas City Mo., a charity of $1,535,000 was subscribed after an intensive drive. The drive netted $400,000 more than any previous charity or relief effort. This fund, now however, is almost gone.

Jesse Weiborn, head of Denver's Unemployment Relief Fund, said that city faced no immediate suffering. Funds are not exhausted, although they will need replenishing soon.

Buffalo Optimistic
Buffalo, N. Y., leads the optimists—column with more than $1,500,000 already subscribed for next year's relief funds and no provision.

In the southwest conditions are better generally than elsewhere. St. Louis, finding relief funds exhausted in February, immediately made a successful $600,000 emergency relief drive. Now enough has been raised to care for the needy for the remainder of 1932.

Dallas, Fort Worth and Austin, Texas, reported relief affairs in very good shape.

by," according to reports from Tacoma, Wash., Seattle, and Spokane, also Butte, Mont., and Portland Oregon. Emergency drives in these cities recently have raised sufficient funds to carry on immediate relief work.

Cleveland reported Cuyahoga county raised $5,650,000 for private charities, of which $2,276,500 was allocated to feed hungry and unemployed. The county today is $5,019,000 short of the amount required to carry on 1932 relief work. In Cleveland and Cuyahoga county 20,000 families are fed daily. A special session of the Ohio legislature is proposed to raise new funds.

The southern key cities report little or no actual privation. Atlanta, Memphis, Nashville, Mobile, Birmingham, Jacksonville, Miami and other important Dixie centers find a growing need for funds, but in no case have budgets been actually exhausted.

Boston, Mass., started 1932 with a relief fund of $7,360,643, appropriated by the municipal government. It spent $1,800,000 during January and February, and has enough money for some time.

Philadelphia is hard hit, although half a dozen relief drives have been successful in the last three months. An appeal is being made to the state legislature.

CALLS ESTIMATE LAW
Washington, March 26 —(U.P.)—Senator Costigan, Dem. Colo., who with Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Repn., Wis., led the losing Senate fight for federal unemployment relief this winter told the United Press that its survey of inadequate relief conditions "understates the facts."

Costigan and LaFollette contended in urging appropriation of $375,000,000 for relief and other resources would be insufficient to carry the load this year.

"The survey of the United Press," Costigan said, "understates instead of exaggerates the heart-breaking human distress widely prevailing in our country. The need has unquestionably far outrun adequate available relief."

"Americans are optimistic by tradition and nature. We prefer to steer our course by silver linings rather than by clouds. However, in the long run we face realities with equally traditional courage and intelligence; and the present session of Congress must not be permitted to adjourn without a substantial federal appropriation for the use of states and municipalities in aid of the innocent and stricken victims of our present economic distress. To do so would be to discredit the wisdom and resourcefulness of popular government."

"We have all been justly shocked by the storm-inflicted human suffering of the last few days which has particularly befallen the residents of Alabama. Our national generosity will spare no pains in going to the aid of these unfortunate citizens. How may we do less for our self-respecting neighbors and friends, who always stand willing and ready to answer their country's call, men, women and children blamelessly overtaken, as they now are, by an economic catastrophe of unprecedented violence and proportions? It is a proper hour to apply the old rule, 'All for each and each for all.'"

"BIG TOP" TIME IS HERE AGAIN: CIRCUSES NEAR

Animals and Men Are Getting Ready To Hit The Road

Chicago, Mar. 26—(AP)—It's "big top" time again—with circus owners in an optimistic frame of mind.

At Peru, Ind., up in Baraboo, Wis., and down in Sarasota, Fla., the main hibernating centers of the big shows, animals and men are coming out of their quarters.

The first of the large shows to take the trail open Sunday in Baldwin Park, Cal. Another "big top" will come to New York April 8. The season opens in Chicago April 16. Another entourage will get under way in Kentucky in May.

The circus men say they are optimistic but qualify their enthusiasm with the remark they would not be in the show business if they were pessimists.

They cite certain concrete evidence, however, for their faith in the public.

Indoor circuses reported excellent business last winter, lending hope to outdoor enterprises.

The larger shows have not reduced their personnel. Agents of John Ringling, head of the American Circus Corporation, said today they were importing as many acts from Europe as usual.

Only one show, the famous old "101 Ranch" failed last year due to lack of patronage. All the others are back on the road.

The smaller circuses, more highly motorized than ever, will continue to route themselves through the smaller towns not touched by the big tents.

Criticism from outside sources that consolidation of the big shows has created excessive home office and "red tape," draws a denial from circus men.

"The business has lost none of its glamor, none of its spirit of adventure, or showmanship," they say. "We are still willing to take a chance in any good-sized town."

Every day for the past month, anywhere from two to a score or more persons have been received by the President in his office at noon.

Thursday at least 30 persons shook the Chief Executive's hand and went on their way with a smile. The thrill of meeting the President of the United States brings them from all parts of the country for this brief word, a smile and a little handshake.

In Thursday's group, for example, there were half a dozen actresses from a New York revue now appearing in the Capital, a policeman in uniform, an elderly woman from Louisiana, families with father, mother, sister and young brother—all sorts of persons. They came a half hour early, some of them, and took seats on the cushioned chairs in the lobby until told to line up.

The hairdressed reception lobby for the past 20 years, takes them in hand. He sees that they line up in the lobby. A Secret Service attaché opens the door to the President's private office.

Just inside, the President, with another Secret Service man opposite him, receives them. He is genial, smiling and has a word for each.

"How do you do?" he responds to their bow and greeting. "Glad to see you," he sometimes varies it. That is all, a quick, though cordial shake of the hand and he is ready for the next visitor.

They follow along quickly, with McKenna outside seeing they go in single file.

"Step along, please," he exhorts them when ever the line begins to crowd up at the door. "Please do not jostle."

The groups have become progressively larger in the recent weeks but still are far from the proportions reached during the Coolidge administration, when 200 to 300 persons each noon fied through the offices to shake the President's hand.

"CIVIC HOTEL" A SUCCESS.
Davenport, Ia., March 26—(UP)—After three months trial, the "Civic" Hotel has been voted a success. Here single men, who are residents of the town, may live as guests, the only pay asked of them is a little of work and cleanliness and sobriety. The hotel will accommodate 175.

NEW BRITISH TARIFF LAW GIVES ENGLAND SUBTLE THREAT TO FIGHT IRISH FREE STATE

Freeze-Out By Dominions Looms

BY MILTON BRONNER
European Manager, NEA Service
London—The Irish Free State's idealism in abolishing the oath of allegiance to the British Empire for members of the Dail is due to clash head-on with stern British politics. A dozen years ago, when de Valera made his first attempt for Ireland's independence, it brought on a bloody war. This time, however, nobody in England is even thinking of actual war with Ireland, for Britain no whas a more subtle card to play in her efforts to keep Ireland within the Empire. This "ace-in-

HERE'S OATH DAI SPURNS
... inctmrrknd nheh,00:ot meece
The oath of allegiance to King George that Ireland wants to abolish appears in Article 17 of the Irish Free State Constitution as follows:
"I do solemnly swear true faith and allegiance to the Constitution of the Irish Free State as by law established and that I will be faithful to his Majesty King George V and his heirs and successors by law in virtue of the common citizenship of Ireland and Great Britain, and her adherence to and membership of the group of nations forming the British Commonwealth of Nations."

the-hole" is the new British tariff, recently restored after 80 years of free trade.

Ireland, an agricultural country, must market her foodstuffs anywhere, can buy her foodstuffs anywhere because of her extensive shipping facilities.

It follows, therefore, that His Majesty's government has an excellent threat of a tariff barrier against Ireland to keep that island under the British crown.

The British parliament's recent protective tariff act levies a 10 per cent import duty on all goods and raw materials with the exception of a small free list. Such tariffs can be increased upon recommendation of the British Tariff Board.

TARIFF CONFERENCE
All dominions within the British Empire, of which Ireland is one, are exempted from the tariff until next November. The reason for setting this date is that an imperial conference is to be held at Ottawa this summer and at that conference Britain expects to do a great deal of trading with her dominions.

The plan is for free trade within the Empire—by which the various dominions will exchange goods free of duty, with some slight modifications.

If and when the Irish Free State breaks the ties of empire, according to the de Valera program, it would not surprise anybody if the new precedent were informed that the Ottawa conference did not expect any delegates from the Free State. In telly poltic language, the Free State might be told that, having decided to quit the Empire, it had lost its dominion tariff privileges and was, therefore, in the status of any other foreign country.

In the last year for which complete figures are available, Ireland imported from Britain goods to the value of approximately $200,000,000 and sold to Britain about $185,000,000. But there is a big difference. Britain could struggle along without Irish trade, whereas Ireland would be paralyzed by the loss of the British market.

The bulk of Ireland's bacon, butter and eggs is sold in Britain. Ireland would have a very hard time indeed in finding so good a market any place else. Moreover, Denmark is aggressively after the British market and the Danes would be glad to make a preferential treaty with Britain to this end.

Even de Valera, idealist and dreamer, may hesitate in bringing this blight on Ireland's farmers, once Britain starts applying her tariff pressure.

MIGHT BAR IRISH
Britain also has another card up her sleeve, one that could cause Ireland a lot more trouble.

Today's Irishmen are free to enter Britain, to move about as freely as Britains and hold British jobs. If the ties of empire were cut, the British authorities might possibly rule the Irishman to be just as much of an alien in Great Britain as an American, a Frenchman or a German.

His stay in Britain might be limited like that of any other alien and if he were holding a job that might be filled by a Britisher he might be asked by the Home Office to go back to his own country—just as French, German and Italian waiters and certain American actors have been asked to do.

Under the new set up, the British Tariff Board has wide discretionary powers in recommending increases over the basic 10 per cent duty and conceivably, this might be employed effectively against Ireland.

This board is already facing many demands by industrialists for tariff increases and elimination of various items from the free list. It greatly resembles the U. S. Tariff commission, except that its three members are chosen regardless of their political affiliations, whereas in America effort is made to divide representation between each of the big parties.

Thus, in his newest row with England, de Valera may find his dreams of Ireland's complete independence clashing not with British bayonets but with something far more subtle and perhaps more effective—a trade war in which Britain holds the upper hand.

ATTORNEY FILES ACTION AGAINST FRANK J. LOESCH
Asst. States Attorney Of Cook County Will Fight Charges

Chicago, March 26—(UP)—Frank J. Loesch, fighting dean of the Chicago bar and Wickersham Commission member, today precipitated a new storm over Al "Scarface" Capone with charges the gangster's dominance extended into the office of the U. S. District Attorney.

Assistant U. S. District Attorney William Parrillo, characterized by Loesch as "a known partisan of Al Capone," filed a praecipe of a $250,000 suit against the venerable, white haired attorney who heads the Chicago Crime Commission.

The Loesch charge was made in a telegram to the Senate Judiciary sub-committee considering the elevation to the Circuit Court of Appeals of Federal District Judge James H. Wilkerson before whom Capone was tried on income tax fraud charges.

U. S. District Attorney George E. Johnson, who prosecuted Capone came to the defense of his assistant and announced he would subpoena Loesch to appear before the April Federal Grand Jury and repeat his charges.

"During his four year's service," Johnson said, "Parrillo's work has been creditable. I have never heard from Mr. Loesch. He will have his opportunity to present the charges at the proper time the day after the primary election."

Loesch stated in his communication to the Senate committee that five candidates for Republican ward committeeman opposing Parrillo had been kidnapped and forced to sign waivers withdrawing from the race.

"Parrillo is the beneficiary of the withdrawals," Loesch said. "That territory is controlled by Capone I will be glad to say what I have to say in court."

Parrillo said he had not heard of the kidnappings previously and intended "to protect myself against such slander."

"If I recover any money," Parrillo said, "I will give it to some charity."

He also asked opportunity to appear before the Senate committee.

Output of these creameries is largely exported to England and a tariff wall would cut off the Board, which will wield a powerful weapon over rebellious Dail. ## Machines That Are Almost Human

By E. C. TAYLOR

Census Tabulators

HOW many married men are there in the United States who are under thirty-five years of age, married and owning automobiles that cost less than $1,200?

Or again, how many heads of families were jobless at the time the last census was taken, have their own homes that cost less than $5,000, but are not all paid for, have children and were born in the United States?

Or, how many farmers are there in the United States who own automobiles, sold their crops at a loss last year, but have some money laid away and are not worrying about the future?

These and many other questions can be answered by the census tabulators, which are electric devices for tabulating statistics.

These machines make it possible to learn facts within a few hours or days that formerly took months or years to ascertain when men and women did the work.

They are operated like adding machines, except that instead of an operator punching keys, holes in cards give off electric impulses that cause the machine automatically to register any requested set of facts.

When the 1930 census was taken, the people of the United States were asked a great many questions, not only as to age, sex, place of residence and where they were born, but as to their economic status. The government wanted to know whether they had jobs, if they lived in cities or towns, whether their farms paid them a profit, whether they owned automobiles and how much they cost, whether they owned their homes, and many other things to which the census enumerators found it hard to get answers.

Contrary to the belief of many who were asked such questions, the idea was not to make mailing lists of all those in the country who didn't have automobiles or radios or who had some money in the bank. The government wanted to know how the people of the country were prospering and how they lived. There is nothing like statistics to tell such a story, the government believed, and it set about the task of finding out.

After previous censuses thousands of men and women spent months and years compiling statistics as to the various groups in the country—how many were farmers, how many residents of the United States were born in this country, how many were of school age. The government made no effort to learn how many had radios and automobiles until the census of 1930. A score of questions were added to the former list asked by census enumerators.

If the old method of sorting all this data by hand, and adding it all up by punching adding machines by hand had been followed, the task would have been well-nigh hopeless. It would have required years to total all the 1930 census had disclosed about the condition of the people of the United States.

So the electric statistics tabulating device was put to work, and it has greatly simplified the gigantic task of finding out how the 120,000,000 people of the United States live.

The answers each man, woman and child in the United States gave to the questions asked by the enumerators were recorded by holes on cards. The position of the hole on each card indicated whether the answer was "yes" or "no" to each question, and also what each question was. Nothing was written on the cards. They were simply punched with the answers.

To find out the answers to any set of questions such as are asked above, the operator of the machine only had to set the proper triggers and gadgets so that only the facts he wanted to know would be recorded, and start the machine.

The cards are dropped into the machine by the 100,000, and shoot through at a thrilling pace. The machine selects out the cards bearing the proper answers and dumps them into a separate container. They are then run through a counting machine and the task is completed.

It looks easy when you see the machine operating. A task that took hundreds of times as long and hundreds of times as many operators is performed accurately and simply. It is another example of how science has produced a machine to do tedious, difficult and wearying task accurately and with skill.

JAMIE TELLS HOW VOTING PUBLIC CAN WRECK GANG'S 'BIG BUSINESS'

Ballot Cited As Powerful Weapon

BY ALEXANDER JAMIE
Director of the "Secret Six" of the Chicago Association of Commerce Written Especially for NEA Service and The Dixon Evening Telegraph I am often asked "How can gangs be destroyed?"

Here is how any city can do it: Stop the interference of politicians with the law enforcing machinery. Elect to public office men who will refuse to become indebted to shady politicians for election day favors. Get a police force that will not be handicapped by machine politics.

Co-ordinate the activities of your law enforcing agencies, such as the courts, the prosecutor's office and the police department.

The machine politician is the god-father of the gangs in America's cities today. He is the instrument that makes gangdom's existence possible—and also profitable.

If decent citizens ever expect to get anywhere in the war on organized crime, they first must stop these shady politicians from interfering with our law enforcing machinery. These men have everything to do with our crime situation today.

True, there have been many cases of dishonesty in our police department, but please remember that our police departments are subservient to our politicians. And as long as the politicians are in control, there is going to be more of it.

LARGE CITIES ALIKE
I am not speaking now of Chicago alone. I am speaking of practically every large city in the United States.

These men, in the parlance of the day, "know their onions." On election days they are busy with the men-and-money resources of their gangster friends in the interests of certain candidates. Later, when the times comes to intercede for a gangster friend who has gotten into trouble with the law, they rush to the judge or other public official whom they helped elect.

The necessity of running for election, or re-election, and the resultant campaigning for votes puts any judge under an unfair handicap. In federal courts, judges are appointed for life and therefore they do not have to look to politicians for election-day favors. That is, I believe, one of the main reasons why Uncle Sam's courts command such deep respect.

As an illustration of the criminal's fear of the federal courts, consider the recent war the Secret Six has been waging against thefts of merchandise from trucking concerns. We took the position that these trucks, being engaged in interstate commerce, were entitled to government protection. So we caused the cases to be taken into federal court.

Later, an attorney for one of the defendants accused of robbing a truck assured us that if his client had known that they were under the protection of a federal law he would never have undertaken the theft.

UP TO VOTERS

In view of the fact that we must elect our local law enforcement officials—such as judges, mayors, prosecuting attorneys—I think the remedy for organized crime can lie only with the voters.

There should be enough honest voters to elect honest men who will be above the influence of machine politicians—we must get at the situation through the ballot box. Determined public officials can destroy gangs without much difficulty. All they have to do is to cut off the sources of gang revenue—by closing a gang's gambling houses, its vice resorts, stopping the sale of its liquor, etc. Such resorts could not operate in the face of a determined campaign to close them.

This will take from gang leaders their power of money, and without money—and plenty of it—no gang can possibly survive. With such organizations, money is everything. Kill the revenue, and you kill the gang.

Obviously, the question may be asked: "What is a voter to do when both sides have nominated machine candidates?" The only answer is that the business men and the decent citizens of the town should take matters into their own hands by nominating candidates who are not affiliated with either machine. Certainly, there must be enough decent citizens to do this; certainly there are plenty of honest men to run for public office with their support.

GOOD TIME MONEY

In surveying the causes of mercenary crime—omitting crimes of passion from consideration—I am convinced that the root of most of it is the desire for high living; the desire for cabaretting, fine clothes, wild parties.

Very little of the money obtained by crime is ever applied to any legitimate use—it is usually lavished almost immediately on a "good time" and the man who robbed a bank of thousands of dollars yesterday may be broke tomorrow.

Gambling has much to do with it, too. A man who loses at gambling often turns to crime to recoup.

I do not believe that business depression and unemployment turns honest men to paths of crime. A man who has been accustomed to earning an honest living will not take such a course when misfortune comes—his inclination is to tighten his belt, grit his teeth and hope for better things. The idea of crime doesn't occur to him.

Of course, unemployment may be responsible for some petty crime, but no law enforcement agency ever has given much thought to a man who steals a loaf of bread to feed his hungry family.

The real answer to organized crime and the growth of the nation's gangs is the crooked machine politician who distorts the law enforcement machinery that society has set up for the protection of its citizens.

SPEAKER GARNER LOST PRESTIGE DURING THE WEEK

His Espousal Of the Lost Sales Tax Has Hurt His "Campaign"

Washington, March 26—(AP)—While the political headlines busily record the steady growth of delegate support behind Herbert Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt, events elsewhere also are writing important history in both political parties.

For the Democrats, and particularly for the presidential aspirations of Speaker John N. Garner, the tax battle in the House has taken on political aspects of extraordinary significance. Among the Republicans a major under-surface agitation centers about new demands from both sides with respect to prohibition.

Garner's supporters have presented the record of his House leadership as outstanding proof of his availability for the presidency. Now his espousal of the sales tax has been accompanied by at least temporary loss of control and by political reverberations far exceeding expectations.

Garner Embarrassed
The Speaker's friends declare he will not suffer greatly in the long run, although they plainly are concerned at the embarrassments that have clustered about him just at this stage of the campaign. The making of a tax bill is a long process. It still is possible the Garner leadership may regain, by some sudden stroke, much of the prestige it unquestionably has lost during the past week.

Georgia's sweeping endorsement of Roosevelt at Wednesday's primary is a barometer of disrupted reliability in his coming test of strength with Garner, who was brought into the picture by those convinced he was best qualified to head off the fast-moving Roosevelt boom. In Georgia Garner was entered only by proxy, and by a proxy without outstanding popularity in the state. The result was about what both sides expected.

A more clear-cut test—and probably the first—will be furnished by the Nebraska primary on April 12, in which Roosevelt, Garner and "Alfalfa" Bill Murray all are entered. President Hoover, virtually alone in the Republican race, picked up the Iowa delegation of 25 during the week, and now has 91 delegates instructed, pledged or claimed for him. Few dispute that by the end of April enough to nominate will be in the bag.

'Depression Grossly Exaggerated': Bishop

Grand Rapids, Mich., Mar. 25—(AP)—Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes of the Chicago area of the Methodist Episcopal church believes the depression is grossly exaggerated in the minds of the public.

"Conditions may be described generally," the Bishop said in an address last night, "as doing without what our fathers and mothers never had. It is not so much a matter of keeping the wolf from the home, but keeping the wolf from the garage."

"The task today," he continued, "is to subdue the prophets of tears and gloom." He said the predicament in which many persons found themselves was their own fault, caused by speculation in bad stocks and over-purchase of farm lands.

MANUFACTURE ICE CROP.
Argentine, Mich. March 26—(UP)—Mild weather this winter prevented local merchants harvesting their annual ice crop. They conquered the phenomenal temperatures, however, by allowing a thin coat of ice to freeze over the local mill pond and then pouring a little water on nightly. The process was repeated until ice six inches thick was formed.
